DEGREES CONFERRED AT JOHNS HOPKINS. CLOSE OF THE SEVENTEENTH YEAR OF THE GREAT BALTIMORE UNIVERSITY.

Baltimore, June 13 (Special).-The seventeent neademic year of Johns Hopkins University closed this evening with interesting exercises at the Academy of Music. Heretofore the commencements have been held in the largest Methodist church in the city, but even that had become too small to accommodate the friends of the hundreds of students, and this evening they filled the largest theatre in the city. President Gilman in his Cambridge gown, the members of the faculty, the trustees and the sixty-six degree men in black caps and gowns marched from the university Academy, The president, Mayor Latrob and the faculty occupied seats on the stage between rows of beautiful palms and lilies, with the banner of the university and the motto "Peritos Vos Liberobit," in green letters, in the background. The attention of the women was directed to Mis-Florence Bascom, the first woman to receive a degree at the Hopkins. She is a modest, intellectual little woman and is a daughter of the late president of the University of Wisconsin. Her original investigations in geology have attracted great attention in scientific circles. She has accepted a chair in a college at Columbus, Ohio.

The exercises were opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. W. U. Murkland. Professor William H. Weich. the aims and scope of this new department of the university, which, he announced, would be opened next October. He referred to the generous gift of open the Medical School earlier than expected. He said that, unlike most of the medical schools in this country, the Johns Hopkins would require candidates for admission to have a thorough general education; Professor George H. Williams made an address on "Recent Studies of the State of Maryland" and President Ginean gave the candidates for degrees some wholesome advice directed particularly to those who intend to become teachers. He then announced the promotions in the faculty, fellowships, degrees,

The John Marshall prize for important contributions to historical and political science was awarded to Professor Charles M. Andrews, of Bron Mawr College, for his book on "The Old English Manor." Following are the appointments and promotions in the faculty: Dr. J. W. Bright, now associate, to be Professor of English Philology; Dr. William Hand Browne, now associate, to be Professor of English Literature; Herbert Evelett Greene (Ph. At 11:30 o'clock the regular exercises were opened in the chapel with a prayer by the Rev. Dr. M. Van Revsselner, followed by an address by the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Steddard, vice-president of the institution.

After a salutatory in sign language by Martin Glynn, one of the high class graduates, five little tots, cone much over five years of age, came upon the platform and Illustrated with chalk sketches Mother Goose' verse of "Ding Dong Dell." As an example of advanced primary work. Orris Benson, eleven years old, who is deaf, dumb and blind, made a short speech, first in signs, then in mechanical speech and then wrote it down on a blackboard. He was followed by six other boys about the same age, wh wrote various things upon the blackboards and after-ward read them in intelligible, though unmusical speech.

It has been found that about 16 per cent, of th so-called deaf really possess some latert power of hearing. By means of certain instruments this latent power is developed, Just as a muscle is developed by exervise, until the pupils can often hear fairty well by means of an ordinary ear trumpet. Miss Johan'm Buss and Wilbur L. Bowers, members of the graduating high class, read essays in sign language, which were translated into speech by the principal, Professor E. H. Cellier. Diplomas and certificates were the 2 awarded.

AT THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE, BALTIMORE,

Baltimere, June 13 (Special).-The commencement xercises of the Woman's College were held to day buildings. The ten graduates, wearing black gowns, sat in the front row of chairs. President Coucher in his address stated that the college now has $1,000,000 codowment. Better than that, it has friends who give to it while living and jeave bequests when dead. A few days ago he received a check for $10,000 from a friend of the institution to be used on condition the name of the denor should not be mentioned. This morning another friend offered the college $50,000 on conditions which the trusters would undoubtedly accept. TO BE REFEREE OF THE YALE-HARVARD RACE New-Haven, Conn., June 13 (Special),-Yale and Harvard take turns in choosing the referee for annual boat race at New-London. Last year it was Yale's Turn and C. L. Ives, New-York, was selected He gave universal satisfaction and has been specially honored by Harvard this year. Immediately after the meeting of the two crews at New-London to managements of the navies held a meeting and HArvard announced Mr. Ives as her choice for referee. Mr. Ives is a graduate of Columbia and pulled a vigorous oar on his college crew there. Later he went to England and did commendable rowing on the Cambridge crew. This is the first occasion in the history of college rowing where the same man has been selected as referee by the two competing crews when each college had the power of mixing the choice alone in the two consecutive years.

TAMMANY NOT TO RUN IN THE SUBURBAN-RACING AT MORRIS PARK.

Narcus Daly's celebrated colt Tammany will no be seen in the Suburban Handicap. This is bad news to all admiters of the highest type of racehorses and of the highest class of racing-The battle of Tammany and Lamplighter in the Suburban had been looked forward to with glowing anticipation by all the devotees of the turf. The two colts had not met since they were two-year-olds, and they had never taken part in a race in which one was so clearly itted against the other than the question of super ority might be definitely decided. Matthew Byrne the trainer of Tammany, kept the son of Iroquots out of Lamplighter's way last year, being well content to capture the richest of the three-year-old stakes, th Realization, the Lorillard and the Jerome with Tammany, and putting off until this season the critical contest between the best three-year-olds of 18.92. Each colt has had the most ardent and zealous of partisans, who would not admit that the other could vanquish their favorite, and every person interested gether in the subarban. They were to contend on equal terms, carrying 127 hs, each, and it was generally conceded among the turf sages that the Suburban would be fought out between them. Marcus Daly, of Montana, had come East to see his horseand look over his stable. He was at Sheepshead Bay yesterday when the accident occurred which so dark a cloud on the Suburban. Tammany split one of his hoofs so badly that he must be re-When this became known tired, for a time, at least. at Morris Park the words of regret were general and sincere.

Once more the New-York Jockey Club welcomed a handsome array of amusement-seekers within its gates, although the programme, with the exception of the New-York Jockey Club Handicap, was not up to the usual standard at Morris Park. But the clubhouse, the grand-stand, the betting ring, the grounds Jockey Club's average. Some people still chatter idly about the long and tedious journey to Morris Park. The truth is that less time is now required to go to Morris Park from Wallst., from the City Hall, from Union Square, from Madison Square, from Forty-second-st., from Central Park or Harlem, than to go to Sheepshead From Wall-st, by the Second-ave, Elevated Railroad to One-hundred-and-thirty-second-st, and Will's-ave., and thence by the special race-trains to Morris Park, the journey can be made in less time than is usually required for the trip to Sheepshead Bay. And this is true of the journey from the other parts of this city which have been named. Sheeps head Bay is only a few miles from the New-York Hall in a straight line. But the ferry boats and trains which carry passengers to the Coney Island racetrack are as a rule extremely deliberate in their movements, and connections are not as prompt as they Picknicker's victory in the New-York Jockey Club Handicap is not an altogether pleasant subject to write about, because the horse's career has been so puzzling and inconsistent. In 1891 he won the Withers and some other three-year-old stakes, and exhibited high form in a number of races, but he suffered many defeats, some of which were not easy to excuse or explain. His record in 1892 was similarly checkered. Pidden by John Lambley and carrying 116 Res. he made a wretched showing in the Metropolitan Handicap on the first day of the Morris Park meeting. Last Thursday, in the Cherry Diamond Handicap, he carried 111 lbs., and was ridden by Pickering. Again he ren miserably. Yes-terday he carried 107 lbs., was ridden by Sims, was well backed, and won the New-York Jockey Club Handicap hand-omely. Louis Stuart, the ownof Picknicker, says that the horse's very poor running in the Cherry Diamond Handleap was due to the insbility of Pickering to ride him properly. Picker #2's incompetence has been shown so glaringly in a number of races that it is not fair to racegoers for the Board of Control to give him a license Every one knows that in 1892 Pickering threw away on Patron and Fichnicker that any compete the public, which supports racing, with fairne when he puts a boy of Pickering's calibre on a horse of Picknicker's capacity, and the racing authorities the old fellow probably felt the effects of the ravages of time and failed to get a place. Lakeland has got Sleipner into faulties condition, and, well ridden visable that he should be ridden in that way now, the always ran best when ridden in that manner Eut yesterday Littlefield waited with him for nearly a mile, and tried in vain to catch the others at the innisa. The big son of St. Binase still looked high in flesh, and if his leg does not give way is likely to win important races and bets a little later.

Green B. Morris seems to be thoroughly disgusted with Covington's apathy in the saidle. Just as he drops the boy, Rogers, of Brown & Rogers, takes him up and puts him on Fickpocket. The little had rode a fattees race. It is almost impossible to get Covington interested in anything in these days. It has been contaging.

Edward Kelly is so burdened with financial interests of vast extent that he does not get time to visit the racecourse often. If he had been present he would have been dispushed with the style in which P. Rogers rode his filly Token in the fifth race Perhaps Token could not have won with any lockey atthough she was well beeked. But P. Rogers seemingly made no effort to ride her out for third place, and pecketed her thost heatly and effectively in the linst inrion.

If the Foard of Control had punished Clayton properly a few days ago, when Mr. Rowe, the starter, accused him of pulling Conanche, some of the jorcheys, who now do as they like, might mend their ways. Clayton was a notorloosity dishoned fockey on the winter racetracks a few years ago and the taint of the reputation which he then acquired clings to him still. The Board of Control was far too lax with lifth. This Comanche case was clear, and Clayton ought to have been made an example of.

OF THE WINNERS.

Boston, June 13 (special)—Aysic Park accounts the harness racers this afternoon, when a programme began which is to continue the balance of the week. A smooth, well-kept track awaited the filers, and even in the slow classes the miles were rapid. The meeting began with the 2:40 class for trotters, in which the stallion Mambritonian was a pronounced favorite over his six opponents. The old horse, with a youthful driver, was easily master of the situation, putting in Franklin Park last week, and won, getting a mark 2:30. Prinsenian, a colt by him, was favorite for the 2:23 class this afternoon, but only got one of the three heats trotted, lowering his record to 2:22½. The track had become slippery after a drizzling rain, and Prinsonian The 2:35 pace was a surprise, as Belle was unsteady. Wilkes led in the early betting, but she failed to get a heat, a break in the second causing her to be dis-tanced. Plaza, a siout gray stallion, captured the money in straight heats, despite the efforts of Scott Mc-Coy with Quoddy, who was the hope of the local sports Plaza scored his first after Telle Wilkes came to grief. Plaza scored his first record of 2:28's last Thursday, and pulled this down to 2 22 4 to-day.

The 2 23 trot was held over after three heats, as the rain was still falling, and the footing was getting cangerous. Besides it the 2:28 trot and 2:27 pace are

THE DUKE OF VERAGUA CHANGES HOTELS

HE GOES BACK TO THE STATE APARTMENTS WHICH HE FORMERLY OCCUPIED.

When the Duke of Veragua parted company with Commander Dickins on Monday evening he censed to be the guest of the United States. Commander Dickins went to the Waldorf on Monday afternoon and drew a check for the amount in which the Government was indebted to that hotel, and before his departure for Washington he drew another check to pay the bill of the ducal party at the Hotel Bruns-The following cases were argued:

Then for the first time in over two months

The Marquis de Villalobar explained to a Tribune reporter that the reason for the change was a delicacy on the part of the Duke to taking up the expense account at the same place | ca where the Government had been entertaining him. No one hinted that the entertainment of the Duke at the Brunswick had not been entirely satisfactory to him. In fact he expressed his satisfaction and appreciation through the Marquis de Villalobar, who paid the Duke's bill from Monday evening until yes-

The managers of both hotels were surprised at the change. The Duke sent a messenger to the Waldorf on Monday to ask if he could have the state apartments. Some of them were occupied, and a wedding reception was to take place to-day in the reception room of the apartments. The wedding reception was to be that of Morris D. Stevens and Miss Alberta Howell, who are to be married at Grace Church to-day. Mr. Stevens and Miss Howell became engaged in the state apartment of the Waldorf on the night that the hotel was opened, so that there was a romantic reason why they should hold their wedding reception there. The Duke was informed that most of the rooms would be placed at his disposal immediately, and that the entire apartment could be turned over to him after to-day. The Marquis de Villalobar called at the Waldorf early yesterday afternoon and said that the Duke would take the apartments under those conditions and would arrive before long. The Spanish flag was immediately flung to the breeze and the rooms put in readiness. About the time that the Waldorf Ch. g., 5, 15.2 h.; Mr. Hastings, #300.

THE LARGE EXPORTS AND UNPRECEDENTED SURPLUS IN SIGHT-GOVERNMENT REPORTS DICREDITED.

ro the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The exports of wheat and flour for the principal ports in May were equivalent to 14,343,891 bushels of wheat, against 15,367,158 last year. Including net exports from all ports for the ten preceding months, the aggregate of known exports for eleven months is 174,595,585 bushels, against 209,502,020 for the same months last year. In June of last year the exports were about 16,000,000 bushels, and the returns thus far indicate nearly as large at outgo this month, so that the total exports for the crop year nearly ended will be not far from 199,000,000 bushels. This is a greater quantity than has ever been exported in any year except the last.

The Government crop report has ceased to deserve the confidence it formerly received. The latest, issued last week, is of such a character that it is interpreted by some reputable journals as indicating a crop of less than 400,000,000 bushels wheat. But the final report of the Department last fall placed the yield more than 40,-000,000 bushels below the lowest figure consistent with its subsequent statement of wheat in farmers' hands March 1. Consumption of food and seed has been 363,000,000 bushels, and exports about 190,000,000 bushels for the crop year, accounting for 553,000,000 bushels during the year, though the crop was officially stated as only 516,000,000 bushels, and the quantity now in visible supply is, nevertheless, about 40,000,000 bushels greater than it was a year ago. Such discrepancies as these need to be somehow reconciled before the latest crop estimate is accepted as strictly reliable. Comparison of exports, consumption and visible supply for the last two years warrants the belief that the Government estimates have been rapidly deteriorating in character. Apparently they were 28,000,000 bushels out of the way as to the yield of 1891, about 44,000,000 out of the way as to the yield of 1892, and it would not be strange to find the estimates for the crop of 1893 as much as 60,000,000 bushels out of the way. The trouble has been due mainly to causes outside the Washington office; to the THE ATLANTIC CLUB'S REGATTA ONLY A FRIFTING MATCH IN THE FOG.

Owing to a lack of wind the attempt of the Atlantic Yacht Club to sail its twenty-eighth annual regatita yesteriday was a failure. After a long drift, in which the yachts failed to get by the Foint of the Hook, the race was given up, and the boats returned to their anchorages off Boy Ridge, most of them being aided by tugboats. There were thirty-seven yachts which crossed the line when the signal for starting was given, soon after noon. There was acarcel's breath of wind blowing, but what there was came little progress toward the south. The starting point was buoy No. 11, just below the Narrows. It took two hours for the boats to drift down to the Southwest spit baoy. It was foggy, too, most of the thac, and boats could be only faintly seen in the mist. At the Southwest spit the fog cleared away. The elb the ceased about the time the spit was reached, and the food began to run.

That o'clock the yachts "bucked" against this tide, trying to get out by the Hook. Many of them anchored to prevent making sternway, and over all the broad expanse of water there was no sign of a wind. Then the Judges' boat ran through the fleet and asked each captain if he wanted to give it up or stay out all night. Everybedy said that he would do as the others did, and nobody wanted to be the most to give up. The shades of evening began to cathed a fact and maked each captain if he wanted to give it up or stay out all night. Everybedy said that he would do as the others did, and nobody wanted to be the most to give up. The shades of evening began to cathed a fact and most at the south. The country could stand it very well if the yield this year should not be more than toreigners have usually taken. It is this stubborn and urly start which has brought about the lowest prices ever known both here and at Chicago, and the Government estimate is hardly solid and substantial enough to collide with such facts adout 415,000,000 bushels; to hat the country could stand it very well increasing organization of farmers to influence

New-York, June 13, 1893. THE COURTS.

A VERDICT IN FAVOR OF THE CITY. A jury before Justice Barrett, in the Supreme terday, brought in a verdict in favor

ity in the suit brought against it by the New-York and Brooklyn Ferry Company to recover about $100,000 for structures taken by the city in the building of the Brooklyn Bridge. In 1871 a part of the property of the Rossvelt Street Ferry Company was taken for one of the towers of the Bridge.

The city agreed to pay for a new building which had to be erected further up the river, in case, in terr, when the lease ran out, a new lease should not be granted to the ferry company. The city refused
